PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT TRAINING

Glasgow Science Centre are taking our Inspire and Challenge Training digital.

As a valued partner we would like to invite you to take part in a pilot of the new version of our popular training course on Wednesday 5th May 2021. Attendance at this course, for invited organisations, is free of charge and the course will take place on Zoom.

What will attendees experience?

Enhance your skills in engaging with the public and promote the profile of your work. Public engagement is increasingly important, as it is an effective method of creating an informed society and building Science Capital. Our Inspire and Challenge training course gives you the tools and techniques to disseminate your work and engage public audiences with the fascinating world of science.

By the end of this one day course you will be able to:

- · Structure a hands-on activity that inspires audiences of all ages and abilities
- · Employ modern theories of learning to hook people into science
- · Develop your skills in choosing appropriate language for your audience

After the course, there will be the option to come back to put the theory into practice in a supportive environment. Our Curious About programme gives you the opportunity to interact with visitors digitally via Glasgow Science Centre's online engagement platform and develop your public engagement skills. You can view the Curious About platform at https://curiousabout.glasgowsciencecentre.org

What we need from attendees

After you have had some time to reflect on the course we will ask you to join us again on Wednesday 12th May for a 45-minute focus group on zoom. The focus group will take place at 1100 or 1300 and we will let you know what time we would like you to attend. These sessions will be recorded for our evaluation purposes and your feedback as part of this session will help us to shape the future digital Inspire and Challenge.

Registering your interest

Places are limited so we ask that a maximum of 2 people from each organisation attend. We do recommend attending with a colleague to get the most out of the experience. To register your interest please email contactus@gsc.org.uk by the 26th of April.
