

COFFEE BREAK @ SULSA

Driving new international collaborations between Scotland and Europe

Researchers in Scotland, France and Germany are invited to participate in short, informal online coffee breaks, facilitated by the Scottish Research Pool for Life Sciences - SULSA

- Researchers will be matched based on their location and selected topic under the umbrella of climate change
- An informal 1:1 15 minute 'coffee break' will be conducted over Zoom between either Scotland-Germany or Scotland-France based researchers
- This pilot has a Life Sciences focus, however, the scheme is not exclusive to life scientists and is open to other disciplines
