

Be a leader. Inspire your peers. Become a Student Ambassador.

The APS Student Ambassadors Program is an exciting leadership opportunity for students worldwide to represent APS at their home institutions and connect those around them with APS resources. As part of a select annual cohort, you'll gain exclusive access to:

Leadership training: Develop skills to lead and inspire in the physics community.

Professional development: Unlock tools and resources to advance your career.

Global networking: Connect with fellow students and physicists from around the world.

This program empowers future leaders to connect, inspire, and thrive while shaping the future of APS.

Ready to lead the way?

Learn more at go.aps.org/studentambassador